20 July 2016*

EaPpeal

Jean Monnet project

The Eastern Partnership under strain - time for a rethink?

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

About the EaPpeal project

EaPpeal seeks to confer a sound framework for policy debate with regards to the Eastern Partnership region. The EaPpeal project also tries to provide novel answer of the intrinsic and extrinsic challenges both the EU and EaP countries face in a changed geopolitical context marked by instability, territorial tension and armed conflict.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

- ✚ To transmit knowledge about the EU and its international role especially in the Eastern neighbourhood ;
- ✚ To forge an academic and professional cooperation platform which will gather some of the most appreciated experts in the EaP domain, researchers, young professionals, students, civic activists, policy-makers from the EU and EaP countries and Russia who will provide invaluable expertise, exchange ideas and policy-recommendations for increasing the effectiveness of the EU policies towards its eastern neighbourhood;
- ✚ To draw together scholars who could fill the theoretical gap with respect to the conceptualization of the EaP and who could provide answers to the increasingly demanding questions about the position of the EaP countries in future European configurations;
- ✚ To improve understanding of the current topical issues from the eastern neighbourhood and stimulate the theoretical and professional skills of participants;
- ✚ To encourage participants to actively engage with the current debate vis-à-vis the future of the EaP region;
- ✚ To familiarise participants with the interplay of the multiplicity of actors and decision-making processes from the EaP region (i.e. the antagonistic views of Russia and the Euro-Atlantic community).
